Ethos statement for sixth form applicants

Bennett is a Church of England school. The school's aim is to provide a high quality academic education underpinned by strong Christian values, supported across the curriculum, including through Christian worship. In the sixth form all students are expected to support this ethos. A core studies programme is provided for all students which incorporates a range of areas, including religious and ethics education, and all students are expected to take part in the core programme as directed. A range of co-curricular opportunities is offered, and these are considered a vital part of learning and development in the sixth form. A professional standard of personal presentation and conduct is considered essential for membership of the Bennett sixth form, as described in the prospectus.
